

taphsic method

Posted by gye1962 - 07 Feb 2016 15:44

Hi.

i forgot to write down in my taphsic page that if i recure to the heavy knas than the contract is no longer binding , i really had it in mind, but forgot to write it down, is the contract still binding or not??

also do i need to say it out loud, or just write it down and sign it?

If you seek recovery outside of taphsic, please speak to Reb cordnoy

If you seek recovery within taphastic I can find you someone who is so far clean for almost two years providing he allows me to connect you and him. Feel free to PM me. The beauty of this site is that its not one size fits all.

I wish I had the courage to take at-least one of the intiatives. I guess that will be held against me one day.

I am working on my Nusach for this, and I was curious if one could submit it to a Beis Din, so it would have an even stronger "real" sense of binding. I suppose that would defeat the purpose of anonymity, but what if one went to a Beis Din outside of the area where you live?

The part I am working on with the Nusach is the distractions. I want the distractions themselves to be productive. I was thinking today that one of the distractions should be to do something on my "to-do" list that I have been avoiding. (and there are many.)
