

Singularity's Journey

Well here I am, aaaagain! Actually this is the first time I've posted in this forum but I've decided to give it a 90-days go. Again. Oh boy.

BH married, 2 wonderful kids and a good job. Good learning and constantly striving for closeness to Hashem. Now have to kick this habit.

I'm in two minds. One one hand, it's good to track progress and discuss your falls and high moments. It gives chizuk for the long haul ahead. However is there not also an idea that the less attention you give something, the less of a problem it is? Any ideas?

Well here I am on day 1. The bulk of Shavuot to Rosh Hashonah is about passed. We're in Bamidbar - a desolate stretch of Torah (from Beha'aloscha at least) where we as a nation fell gravely and were beaten time and time again, due to Ta'avah and Kavod. All put to an end by Pinchas's sole act of zealousness, the seal to all the impure outflow. And I feel it reflects in the time of year. Nothing's happening! No Chagim. Worse, 17th of Tammuz, 9th of Av. It's the Yetzer Hara's playing ground and I always get knocked down strongest here. It's a metzi'us. So I wish to be a phoenix rising from the ashes of a downtrodden nation. And let's all be that together iyH.

Elul will be a lot easier I feel. It's the desolate months of Tammuz and Av that pose the real challenge. But let's see how it goes. Day 1!

Many more...one day at a time.

In regards to reaching out...that sounds like something you should discuss with someone who knows you IRL. That can help you figure out whether this is an area you should be pushing your boundaries in, or leaving alone.

It's only my pleasure!

Big stuff,

I told my rebbe about it all. The lust, the addiction, what I've been doing. I wanted to do a more solid 5th step and also have someone who knows me more, less anonymously, know what I'm going through. I didn't ask for help, per se, but I told him of my journey, what tools I'm using. I found it beneficial because he must pasken for us, but he must know me. And it will lead to better decisions I think.
