

Didn't even touch the door knob

Posted by Meier - 29 Sep 2016 18:25

Hi guys I'm on day 38 BH

we each know how each fall can start. mine usually start with something very small and at the time it happens I don't even dream of the possibility that the end game the yetzer hara has in mind is a total freefall into the abyss.so I've been consciously looking out for all the beginnings so as not open the door to places I don't wanna go.yesterday I was reading a history about ww2 in the Pacific and there was a chapter about the natives on some of the islands and they were describing how undressed they go.now in the past without thinking about triggers I would've gone to YouTube to see what they're talking about.but now on my way to the computer .it hit me.NO this is a scheme.this isn't about history or geography or knowledge.this is about making you fall in a few days/weeks because here's what's gonna happen you're gonna see undressed woman and in 2 or 3 days from now you might modify the search and on and on till CRASH.it was the first time in a long long time that I feel like I won.

We each have that forbidden door we need to stay away from. I'm happy to share that I didn't wake up when the door slammed behind me.with the help from hashem and a little clear thinking I managed to not even touch the doorknob

I know it's a very small victory and that in the future there's going to be much tougher battles but hey I will take it

Reading your old post: I listen to al Chet from R'Yossele Rosenblatt Zatzal very often.its from the al chets about the eyes and i feel that he composed it for people like us.take a listen with a machzor that has translation and you'll know what I mean

Can you please post a mp3 version of it for us (me) to listen to?

If it helped you get to 120 days so far, I want to hear it.

Torahanytime.com has a HUGE selection of shiurim!

great post i think this is something that i have to think about myself.

it's not about winning the war right away it's winning the small things constantly that we need to keep up

Wohoo BB is here

Cords now you know what means BB

"The Blind Beggar is a character in Rebbe Nachman's story of the Seven Beggars"

I see you're very busy with the Sevens...

I like this thread. It's a winner's thread.

Keep it up!

Day 120 BH Dumped popular mechanics.

And I started a new Shiur at night.

BTW does anyone know if there's a AUDIO version of youtube? There are ALOT of shiurim and speeches that I would love to listen to while driving and working.but as we all know the best way not to bump into stuff that we don't want to is to not go to YouTube in the first place.and the data is a fortune too.ANY IDEAS

Hell of a move!

Interesting. Just yesterday I was thinking of a similar analogy: "Beware of the back door". My last couple of falls came about unexpectedly. I thought I was being vigilant, but somehow Mr. Lust managed to sneak in through a "back door" that I was not paying attention to, and before I knew it, I was fried.

Thank you GEVURA

i checked out torahanytime GR8 stuff.

This is to you TIKUN

I got all of my yossele's on a USB that I can listen to in my car.i never uploaded anything onto a computer. any way to get it from the USB onto the phone without using a computer???

Depending on the type of phone. They sell OTG Cables which allow you to plug in a usb to a phone. They are relatively cheap. Do a search if your phone supports OTG.

I think I'm the opposite. I don't have a smart phone on purpose!

But I use a laptop computer.

Anyway, if you figure it out, great.

I'd like to hear it, if you feel it has really helped you get to 120.

Otherwise, don't worry about it.
