

The Road To Being Honest With Myself (and others:)

Posted by Hakolhevel - 19 Feb 2017 04:23

In Short I had issues for about 5 years. When I started dating I stopped, and I was clean for a few years. In the last half a year everything has been coming back, and I don't think I need to enumerate here on this forum, everybody knows what its like, you struggle you fall you fell terrible yada yada yada. Just goes to show once an addict always an addict.

Anyway that's not the point. The point is that coming here and reading the forums has opened up great insight about myself, particularly reading some of Dov's long posts. So I will give you some background, and hopefully you will all help

I feel like I'm in a place right now where if I wanted to stop myself I can (and I do much of the time). The problem is I know what will stop me and I choose not to use those tools? I guess in general that's the problem, it boils down to how much do we really not want to do it. Do we not want to do it just because it makes you feel terrible afterwards/don't like the consequences. If that is the case I think we are doomed to fail, but unfortunately that is where I feel I am right now:cry: As dov put it best in the following quote

Warning: Spoiler!

Anyway I know it was a long rant (for me), I guess the question how do you open yourself up and truly change the way you think? Especially when it's not a lack of knowledge but a change of perspective?

Howzit going, brother?

Thanks for asking, I was on a trajectory of acting out approximately 3 times a month, most recently (as in the last two weeks) I've held up, which I attribute to two factors

1. Something I will not disclose at this time, as its certainly not for everyone, also I would like to see if it really helps me long term before I go touting it's benifits
2. I'm (mostly) on A dopamine fast. So no websites for any pleasure (news, sports...) Which was a lot of my time. I also haven't listened to music just for pleasure . I still eat good food.

Now even if this hasn't helped my porn/masturbation issue, it's definitely saved me a lot of time in my day, and it has made me more focused on the things I need to get done, as I have no distractions.

i know its not easy but could you try to make a project to focus on her maalos that she has ,faithful wife, trys to make you happy ,takes care of the kids,good cook, etc

I don't see a connection between what I said and what you are writing?

So I fell last night. I had they longest streak that I've had in a while, 22 days. I ended my dopamine fast a day or two ago, maybe that contributed , I'm not sure. Regardless I'm going to renew it.

?Either way, im happy I went so long despite having had many temptations in between.

My next goal is to go at least a month, one day at a time.

Hatzlacha to us all.

When I see 26 days on some else's profile it looks really short. When I see it on my own profile it feels like forever

For the record, I feel the same about 35 days

Though I will say my porn temptation has taken a dip for now. Hopefully it drowns in the water.

In the meantime, time to make each day count.

I have not reached this milestone in recent memory.

If only there was a trick that could work.

Maybe at 90 days I'll detail what I believe helps me.

What's the meaning of 75 days?

It means I didn't sabatoge myself for yet another wonderful day of my life.

As I move further down the road from porn (I hope it continues) I find myself more attracted to real people.

In other words, while it's always been a struggle trying to get a second look at a lady jogging down the street, I find with the virtual women out of my life, it seems like I am naturally craving real people more. I'll take that as a good sign. I also have to remember that this is a lifetime issue I have to deal with, it may take on different forms, but I can never fall asleep at the wheel.

Hatzlacha everyone
