Challenges: i'm a college student and i study a lot by myself and acting out gives me a great break.

2) my computer filters are far from perfect.

3) acting out gives me a boost and escape from daily life rigors.

If you read this, please send me back a high five or pat on the back.

I wish everyone massive hatzlacha and siyata dishmaya.

Great job thumbsup. i am also in college and can understand where you are coming from. You need to understand that there are other ways of taking a break besides acting out. you could just hangout with friends, leisurely reading, exercising, extracurricular activities in college, the list goes on.

Mazel tov on reaching a week and hatzlacha moving forward

I'm rooting for you too.

Does it truly give you a boost? How so? I always feel down in the dumps afterwards :-P

Welcome! Hatzlocha going forward.

Il find that some of the serious posts are much funnier than those meant to be funny.

And no, I wasn't referrin' to any posts in particular.

?Hatzlacha with your battle!

Is there anything that can be done to make your filters closer to perfect than "far"?
