

Still Raging Against The Machine

Posted by Cry2Tatty - 30 Nov 2009 01:17

so thats pretty much the deal...i showed up here one day by accident and saw something weird...here were all these jews that where putting up a genuine resistance to the evil empire that is lust...in all my wanderings ive seen some crazy crap but something like this? not at all...i saw two dozen frum blogs but alas, they too were contaminated by the lust assault..poor figures...nothing more than drones following the creed that larry flynt recieved himself on Mount Sinai...disguised as frum sites but nothing of the sort, really....did i find any voices that said, "look, this sh aint right..."...probably but a quick peruse through and i discovered that they were either out of touch with reality or just plain silly...and then i bumped into this site...and here was real and GENUINE and honest solutions....so i came...i looked around...marveled at all the flakes that took up residency here....

well, im now on at least 20 days of no pr0n and no bating...which is a miracle...its been years and years before i came here that i wasnt able to pull 5 days together and many many months where i stopped even trying....i dont know what happened but the group support and the genuineness of the good folks here and hearing their experiences and lo and behold i am a changed man...

the changes were not only in me but perhaps even greater in the people around me...no longer driven by lust i saw people (WIFE) in a new light and the changes in the way we relate to each other was quick and vast....this is perhaps what i owe GYE the most for....

i dont take myself too seriously and i hope you dont either....

=====
=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine

Posted by habib613 - 19 Dec 2009 23:13

BruceWayne wrote on 18 Dec 2009 18:28:

Protect right to abortion? Check. Not everyone has a value system that forbids it.

I don't like the energy companies. They're like the airline companies.

I have absolutely nothing against women (I AM on this site, fool) but I don't really buy into the argument that they don't have equal rights and all that. I think a lot of it is feminatzi BS. That's not to say that you won't find places that pay women less than men or whatever. Also, I just want to point out that there's a huge difference between equal rights and equality. Feminists don't understand this. Women are NOT equal to men, and vice versa. If that were the case, then there would only be one gender. We are different, get over it. For you morons who don't know how to read, "different" does not in any way imply superiority of one over the other. Boots are not better than cross trainers. They are different. You can use both for many of the same things, but they have different specialized functions.

What do I have against gays?

Theoretically, nothing if you don't consider the religious opposition to it. But the reality is not that way. I don't care if a dude wants to sleep with another dude, as disgusting as that is. If they want to ignore women, god's gift to man (at least sort of---hey, read the Bible) then that's their problem. My problem is when they try to force their alternative lifestyle into the mainstream and flaunt it. Gay marriage is a farce. It's a non-issue and frankly our government has better things to do than worry about if it's legally OK for Jim and Joe to do unmentionable things with each other. If they want to live together and call it a "civil union" so they can get the tax benefits or whatever, then OK. But don't call it marriage. Isn't marriage primarily a religious institution anyway? By calling it marriage they are undermining religion and encroaching on religious people's values. Their rights, if you will. So who's "oppressing" who now?

Rage, the very media you hate is the media that pushes acceptance of homosexuality. You've drunk their Kool-Aid. I do not accept homosexuality and I will not be forced to because the TV says it's normal and healthy. I find it offensive when I get bombarded with these messages of acceptance. Guess what? I don't accept Christianity or Islam. Does that make me some kind of bigot? I have no problem with Christians even though I think their religion is a bit weird but I have a problem when they shove their Jesus pamphlets in my face. I have no problem with Muslims, but I have a MAJOR problem when they shove their religion in our faces with huge explosions and death and tell us to convert or die because Islam is true and we're all Infidels. Well, I'm proud of being an Infidel and I'm proud of being a heterosexual. I make no apologies for either one.

I don't know if you caught the headlines, but Houston just elected an openly lesbian mayor. In TEXAS. Now, look for the media to go bananas about this even though her sexual orientation has nothing whatsoever to do with her abilities to run a city. If she does a good job, it's gonna be because of the new wave of tolerance toward gays that is sweeping the world into a flowery utopia so that she could work without being harassed. If she stinks at it, it will be because of the "intolerance" and the "harassment" she got because of her orientation that bothered her so much mentally that she could not do her job, and you'll see crap like "When will we be ready for a gay mayor? A gay president? In other news, the stock markets have all crashed and we're all gonna starve to death....but nobody cares about that. What we need is a gay leader. Especially a gay leader who can fix the economy....coming up at six.

FK the media.

arg i agree with you too. u sure u and rage are on separate sides?

=====

=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine

Posted by Holy Yid - 20 Dec 2009 04:33

All revolutions started small. All you need is a few very committed people who have a message and really believe in it. Live that ideal and share it with the world. Forget about the news and the guy who can swing a metal rod better than you can.

We have an ideal, we have a vision, we are changing ourselves, we are living this, we are spreading this message.

WE WILL WIN. Forget the world and focus on yourself.

=====

=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine

Posted by BruceWayne - 20 Dec 2009 06:21

BTW Rage, I noticed you changed your rap lines to some Pumpkins. But I thought you liked rap.....

=====

=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by silentbattle - 20 Dec 2009 07:00

Reb Rage - why do you think that gay rights is a good thing?

And Re: medical care, wouldn't we be better of treating some of the issues - like the ridiculous numbers of malpractice suits that drive up the cost for everyone?

=====

=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by habaletaheer - 20 Dec 2009 08:37

habib613 wrote on 18 Dec 2009 17:45:

i agree with rage... live and let live

i know, against the torah sometimes (a lot)

but they're all tinokim shenishbeu, and they don't know. if you force ppl to do stuff, they resist...

The above quote was about gay rights. I think people might often miss one of the most important points about gay rights. THEY ARE NOT READY TO LIVE AND LET LIVE! They are incredibly militant, and as soon as a state affirms their right to total equality the insanity brigade starts. First all the children's books start coming out teaching children about all the different types of families, then they start lobbying the schools to buy them and use them, soon it becomes mandatory to teach about this in public schools, about how all types of families are acceptable and just as good (this of course starts to include literature about families with a live in boyfriend etc).

Before you know it, our kids are being exposed to more pro-gay stuff than pro-straight stuff and they begin to start questioning their sexuality more. Of course they question it because the aforementioned books say things like "If a boy liked to play with dolls as a child that doesn't mean he's girly, it means he's gay, and that's OK!" Now, almost every kid played with dolls at some point, but now the kid is reading that he's gay, and the doubting starts. These books also encourage experimentation, to help you out of your confusion.... check out this link for an example, where a couple came to protest that their young child was being read to in school a book called King and King about two young princes who fall in love and get married.

www.boston.com/news/local/articles/2006/04/27/in_storm_over_gay_books_a_principal_holds_ground/

And that is only the beginning. Gay people are people and should have proper access to healthcare and every other type of protection, but to start changing the definition of the family is a real bad proposition. Mind you, in 31 states it was put on the ballot and in all 31 states the people were very clear, they want marriage to remain between a man and a woman...

Or at least that's just me opinion....

Haba

=====
=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by silentbattle - 20 Dec 2009 17:58

is that true - a government's only role is to stop promote equality and freedom?

in this case, though, that is ONLY accomplished by pushing towards everyone accepting homosexuality as acceptable. This causes numerous problems for us - all the issues that Haba pointed out, which have already become problematic (and will only become more so), and issues such as, oh, say, a student body president in an ostensibly jewish university that is openly homosexual, forcing the university to openly condone his lifestyle choice, and the issues go further - what happens when a homosexual wants to become a rebbe in a yeshiva? And as you probably know, the liberal system tends to be oversensitive to rights, so if someone like that get's turned down/fired, he could very easily make a case against the yeshiva.

And then, of course, there's a fundamental question - SHOULD there be liberty for all lifestyle choices that do not involve physically stealing or hurting others?

Furthermore, there are financial questions that come along with this marriage, which everyone else has to bear the burden of.

But ultimately, it comes down to whether or not we want to allow this to go unchallenged - because as much as we can try to insulate ourselves, the outside world seeps in like a leaking sewer line, and we end up smelling, no matter how hard we fight. We can try to shower afterwards, but it means that we're starting off with a major disadvantage.

It means that our kids will grow up in a world where this is a completely acceptable way of life, and anyone who thinks otherwise is a dangerous radical dinosaur.

And Habib - with all apologies - I agree that live and let live is often not a torah hashkafa. And i also agree that unfortunately, that's the society we were brought up in. But are we supposed to change, even though this philosophy seems to feel so much nicer?

=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine

Posted by BruceWayne - 20 Dec 2009 19:19

Rage, I don't really think we're disagreeing on much here.

I'm with haba. I have an issue with their militancy. At the same time, I think they deserve equal rights, which means equal pay, no discrimination, etc. the same way that we as Jews expect not to be discriminated against. But that doesn't mean I have to accept their way of life. And I don't think the gub'ment should get involved.

And you make a good point about this whole discussion applying only to America. Israel is totally different.

=====
=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by Sturggle - 20 Dec 2009 19:25

Rage,

howya doin?!

So..., I haven't read through all your recent rantings, but I glimpsed over and noticed a few catch phrases.

Maybe I'll stay outta this one?

=====
=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by imtrying25 - 20 Dec 2009 20:23

Uh Dude the giants are playing mon night ??? what your going to watch the jets ??? Wait didnt you once say that your a colts fan?? They played thursday night doofus. :D :D :D :D

=====
=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by 7yipol - 20 Dec 2009 20:29

Play tiddlywinks with the kids!

=====
=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by imtrying25 - 20 Dec 2009 20:31

Rage ATM wrote on 20 Dec 2009 20:27:

im not a big football fan...ill watch whats on...like the giants a little more than the rest of the pack but again, not a big football fan...

No prob. I was just responding to your claim to go watch a football game. So i was wonderin which one. Kool with me. I could understan a knick fan not being a football fan. He has too much on his mind! :D

=====
=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by imtrying25 - 20 Dec 2009 20:35

Rage ATM wrote on 20 Dec 2009 20:33:

imtrying25 wrote on 20 Dec 2009 20:31:

Rage ATM wrote on 20 Dec 2009 20:27:

im not a big football fan...ill watch whats on...like the giants a little more than the rest of the pack
but again, not a big football fan...

No prob. I was just responding to your claim to go watch a football game. So i was wonderin which one. Kool with me. I could understan a knick fan not being a football fan. He has too much on his mind! :D

ill just watch whats on...i am a sports fan...mets, rangers, knicks...have you seen? the knicks are actually winning!

Oh really. I heard websters was actually thinking of adding this antonym; knicks/winning. lol

=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine
Posted by jerusalemsexaddict - 20 Dec 2009 20:42

Rage ATM wrote on 20 Dec 2009 20:20:

You mean more like little league howya doin sturgle...We miss ya round these parts...

chevra, this is the bottom line: these are my opinions...i may be wrong i may be right...im not trying to change your mind or insist i am right..i am not running for public office and im not looking for your vote...i respect the view that completely disagrees with me...

back to the topic at hand: im having a weak day (on a weekend)...the reason i havent acted out today, in order of importance, is because (1) habib (2) uri and (3) the streak...habib: because i owe her, uri, because he's waiting for me to fall and say "GOTCHYA" and the streak...it is what it is...

if there werent so much snow on the ground id go skating...cant do that...went ice skatin last night to make up for it and when i came home i ordered myself a new pair of ice skates, when they come in ill go ice skating more...at least until bryant park packs up for the spring...but i hate staying around the house all day on sinday...drives me crazy...maybe i should go watch the football game...

i dont want you to fall dude and you know that.

I want us all to recover and be healthy and whatever works for you,im down for.

=====
=====

Re: Still Raging Against The Machine

Posted by imtrying25 - 20 Dec 2009 20:49

i dint fall because i wanna show myself that i can do it my way...

The most important person to prove something to , is noone but yourself.

=====
=====