

Round 1, Blew it in 7.5 Blah!

Posted by Needtoclearmyhead - 18 Aug 2017 00:10

First round of 90 days.

First week I was busy plus I came here 2 or 3 times to stop myself and change the subject

Today I tried to come here but I just quickly rushed to porn....

when you try to post that you blew it asked for why and what are you going to do about it.

as if I know.

That is why I am here.

so,

why did I do it.

A) Stressed Out,

B) No Sleep

C) Just wanted to stop stopping.

D) Taivas Nashim

E) Escape real life

F) there is more but its not coming to me now that I calmed down it went so fast. I wanted to come here first but YH said just check Drudge for a second first, just on the way, then entertainment news, then seeya straight into the toilet.

Hmmmm

Why don't you just open a blog and put all of your ramblings there?

I go to SA meetings and there are a lot of people in the rooms that havent slept around, including me, and have problems with masturbation, porn etc.

I cant speak for SLAA (I heard that its a pretty loose definition where one gets to pick their sobriety definition). SA's is pretty tight: No sex with self or others other than your spouse.

Thank you

it was only two meetings and only some shared so not exactly an official statement from SLAA.

Just my initial observation

My point is, this place is not a place tell people how awful life is and how much you hate your life and yourself, for that we can listen to a news radio station.

You need to get serious about recovery and that means using the tools on this site all the way (ask Markz for help in direction for this site).

If you hate yourself then you wouldn't want to invest any effort into yourself, why would you want to invest into someone you hate.

Now quit your job at CNN and get onto a truck.

In my experience, i try not to tell people how to run their recovery. Its their life. They are responsible for their own recovery.

I think, at least, we shouldn't hijack his thread

I didn't see much of that on this thread, and I disagree

The more a person opens up, the more it can help
