

Fresh thoughts

Posted by Ihavestrength - 24 Apr 2020 01:41

---

Day 1: Hey all! Hope everyone is doing well during these crazy times. Today was the first day in my journey to 90 days, and I'm going to post everyday until 90 with G-d's help.

I've been on GYE for a while, with some breaks in between joining and now. Thankfully I've had a lot hatzlacha as a result of the help of many here and offline. This helped me stay "clean" for ).

In any case, I learned a lot from GYE, and it helped me hugely. In fact, I even achieved my first 90 days on GYE!

In addition to GYE, I've used many different resources in my journey (therapy, friends, family, groups, and reading). My involvement with GYE occurred mostly in the beginning of my journey, but there have been times where I tried to be active here again because I felt it may help me. Those attempts at revival were not very successful and I often felt like I had outgrown GYE. I always posted on my old thread and I think that contributed to making it difficult to start fresh; hence this new topic.

some very long periods of time, and some short periods as well (which is why I'm here now

In any case, sorry for the ramble. If for some odd reason you'd like to check out my old thread, you can do so here: <https://guardyoureyes.com/forum/4-On-the-Way-to-90-Days/305558-Journey-of-one-day-at-a-time>

Thanks for reading if you made it this far. Hopefully I'll get to know some of you over these 90 days and I'll actually stick around this time.

G-d bless!

=====

====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by Ihavestrength - 25 May 2020 04:30

---

Day 21: Ok day today BH. Hung out with some friends. One virtually and one in person. Quite tired now. Didn't accomplish loads or anything but that's aight. I guess that's all for now, at least for me. Well, have a great night y'all!

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by battle-of-the-gen - 25 May 2020 05:14

---

3 weeks is huge dont forget to pat urself on the back

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by Ihavestrength - 26 May 2020 04:00

---

Day 22: Not feeling too amazing. There are articles that I want to read, because I want to get information about a certain subject, but my mind isn't relaxed enough to read.

Tough day at work. It's stressful, working remotely every day. Barely seeing anyone, not leaving the house. The weather has been miserable as well.

After work, did some exercise. Then I watched a show. Then I read headlines/news and made myself anxious about the current state of affairs for quite a bit after that.

I hate that I have no energy for things like learning, playing music, and other interests and hobbies. It's just that after simply doing everything I need to do, I'm so done. Physically, mentally, and emotionally.

Just surviving, ain't living.

I really feel like the thing I'm missing in my life is a relationship. I don't think there are very many successful happy men without one. I think there is so much talk today about how you need to be happy yourself and bla bla bla. Marriage ain't gonna save you etc. Noone said anything about saving or sufficient conditions. Necessary is the key word here. Yes, I do propose that an intimate relationship/marriage/whatever the hell you want to call it is necessary to lead a happy and successful life (for most people anyways).

I guess I'm trying to sort of validate myself that it's OK, that I'm not totally OK alone. Ironically, I think there is pushback against this idea from people who received the Torah which says "lo tov ladam leehyos levado". Anyways, not trying to be preachy or anything. Really writing this nonsense for myself.

Selfish, I know.

Ok, that's all for me for right now. Have a good night y'all!

=====
=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by Hashem Help Me - 26 May 2020 11:16

---

Keep posting buddy. Your honesty, and your simply being real, is so refreshing. Sharing feelings and imperfections is reminding all of us to drop the perfectionist nonsense and accept ourselves as who we are. Please keep inspiring us.

=====
=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by Ihavestrength - 27 May 2020 02:28

---

Day 23: Tough day again. Work is still hard. I want to talk about something that is important to me, perhaps you can relate, perhaps you can't. Either way is OK.

I think there is a part to refraining from masturbating and porn that people don't talk about. Specifically on the Jewish side of things. I'm talking about how after now masturbating for a while I'm more on edge and how I'm sometimes too restless to sit down and daven properly. Or too restless to learn. Or simply read a book perhaps. Or maybe even to be less aggressive with people.

I guess what I'm saying is that it isn't all benefits to refraining from all sexual activity. This stuff affects our bodies in ways that other things don't replace. Or at least I haven't found a complete replacement activity. I guess what I'm saying is that I don't really believe men are meant to go extremely long periods of time without sex. I think everyone knows this on a common sense level. It's the unspoken assumption.

This isn't to say that one needs to have sex or needs to masturbate. Both of these things can be true at the same time. 1. It's not a natural state for man to be without sex indefinitely. 2. We got free will and we won't die without orgasm or sex. Ok, and I'll add a third item, 3. I think it's best for a Jew not to masturbate or watch porn (not sure if that's included in Sheva Mitzvos lol).

I'm not trying to convince anyone of anything, and not trying to be controversial or anything. Just felt the need to express this for myself and hopefully this doesn't offend anyone. Not saying I expect it to, but it seems like one can do little these days without pissing someone off. Anyways, I'm not saying that in a negative sense, just talkin pragmatically. Anyways, what am I saying? I got no idea, sorry I'm tired.

Till tommorow then. Have a great night!

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by ready2stop - 27 May 2020 03:06

---

I agree to what you're saying somewhat. That there's the feeling of being very jumpy and not relaxed. But what I'm hoping for myself and for you too is that when this struggle is not a day to day battle, and urges come much less frequently, that this feeling will ease up considerably. Meaning this problem is only so strong, exactly because of the hold that masturbation has over us.

thanks for your daily post btw it's great! Keep doing it!

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by lhavestrength - 27 May 2020 03:13

---

ready2stop wrote on 27 May 2020 03:06:

I agree to what you're saying somewhat. That there's the feeling of being very jumpy and not relaxed. But what I'm hoping for myself and for you too is that when this struggle is not a day to day battle, and urges come much less frequently, that this feeling will ease up considerably. Meaning this problem is only so strong, exactly because of the hold that masturbation has over us.

thanks for your daily post btw it's great! Keep doing it!

Thanks for your comments mate. I don't think this really goes away to be honest. I've refrained from masturbating for very long periods of time (over a year) and it hasn't gone away. Seems it is indeed biological, but I guess we can always hope lol.

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by lhavestrength - 27 May 2020 03:28

---

lhavestrength wrote on 27 May 2020 03:13:

ready2stop wrote on 27 May 2020 03:06:

I agree to what you're saying somewhat. That there's the feeling of being very jumpy and not relaxed. But what I'm hoping for myself and for you too is that when this struggle is not a day to day battle, and urges come much less frequently, that this feeling will ease up considerably. Meaning this problem is only so strong, exactly because of the hold that masturbation has over us.

thanks for your daily post btw it's great! Keep doing it!

Thanks for your comments mate. I don't think this really goes away to be honest. I've refrained from masturbating for very long periods of time (over a year) and it hasn't gone away. Seems it is indeed biological, but I guess we can always hope lol.

@ready2stop Just realized this isn't very inspiring lol. The only thing I've found that really can make a dent in that restlessness is vigorous exercise. Guess I was remiss not mentioning that. Anyways, Godspeed!

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by battle-of-the-gen - 27 May 2020 03:32

---

I do hear where your coming from, when the battle is on my mind all the time maybe it can make me a bit jumpy. But I have found that when I'm clean, for the most part I get better sleeps, which leads to better shachris, which just gives a better feel for the day. Theres also so much to accomplish with the extra time on your hands, I get to be so productive.

I think if its on the forefront of your mind then(which Ive been thru) then itll make you a little jumpy, but overall I get such a breath of fresh air when I'm clean. Feels great

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by BHYY - 27 May 2020 19:42

---

You bring up some really good points. First, know that your feelings of jumpiness and restlessness are normal - I deal with them also. I think there is a duality here (although I'm not really one to speak, one of the more experienced GYE members can hopefully weigh in here.) Porn and especially masturbating do make me more irritable and restless because they consume me (Eiver kattan, we need to starve it...) and my brain is wired waiting for the next "fix" the next flood of dopamine. When we take that away our brain starts fighting back.

But from a larger point of view, you mentioned that even when you've gone long periods of time you still feel this need. Yes, we do have a natural desire for this but it needs to be fulfilled in a healthy, Kosher way as a loving relationship between a husband and a wife; not just using one's wife as a Kosher masturbation tool.

I will mention personally that even when I stay clean I am restless and anxious and I believe a good part of it is because I'm single and a bit lonely. It's no secret that even though one's life gets considerably more busy and hectic once he is married there is a sense of calm (Pas B'salo, having a loving companion, a family, etc.) It becomes more fulfilling.

That's why we're here, rewiring so we can be better husbands and fathers bez"H.

You're doing great! Keep it up.

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by Ihavestrength - 28 May 2020 03:15

---

battle-of-the-gen wrote on 27 May 2020 03:32:

I do hear where your coming from, when the battle is on my mind all the time maybe it can make me a bit jumpy. But I have found that when I'm clean, for the most part I get better sleeps, which leads to better shachris, which just gives a better feel for the day. Theres also so much to accomplish with the extra time on your hands, I get to be so productive.

I think if its on the forefront of your mind then(which Ive been thru) then itll make you a little jumpy, but overall I get such a breath of fresh air when I'm clean. Feels great

Even with the extra time, if I'm too restless

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by Ihavestrength - 28 May 2020 03:24

---

Day 24: Meditation. Davening. Work. Therapy. Work. Exercise. Davening. Skimming headlines for coronavirus redemption headlines, no headspace to really read anything. Neck hurts from looking at a screen. Got ready for bed. Writing this. Neck still hurts. Rubbing neck. Seems to help some.

Re what I wrote yesterday about feeling restless after going long periods of time without orgasm: I just want to reiterate what I mentioned yesterday. It seems like the most potent thing that targets this restlessness is exercise. The kind where you sweat. Anyways, just figured I wanted to mention that again. Wasn't trying to be a downer talkin bout how tough things can get, but just wanted to validate a certain part of my experience and acknowledge to myself that it isn't because I'm doing anything wrong.

Ok, I sense that I'm ramblin now and not making any sense. That's my cue.

Have a great night people!

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by Hashem Help Me - 28 May 2020 03:51

---

BHYY wrote on 27 May 2020 19:42:

You bring up some really good points. First, know that your feelings of jumpiness and restlessness are normal - I deal with them also. I think there is a duality here (although I'm not really one to speak, one of the more experienced GYE members can hopefully weigh in here.) Porn and especially masturbating do make me more irritable and restless because they consume me (Eiver kattan, we need to starve it...) and my brain is wired waiting for the next "fix" the next flood of dopamine. When we take that away our brain starts fighting back.

But from a larger point of view, you mentioned that even when you've gone long periods of time you still feel this need. Yes, we do have a natural desire for this but it needs to be fulfilled in a healthy, Kosher way as a loving relationship between a husband and a wife; not just using one's wife as a Kosher masturbation tool.

I will mention personally that even when I stay clean I am restless and anxious and I believe a good part of it is because I'm single and a bit lonely. It's no secret that even though one's life gets considerably more busy and hectic once he is married there is a sense of calm (Pas B'salo, having a loving companion, a family, etc.) It becomes more fulfilling.

That's why we're here, rewiring so we can be better husbands and fathers bez"H.

You're doing great! Keep it up.

Excellent post!

=====

=====

Re: Fresh thoughts

Posted by Ihavestrength - 28 May 2020 23:07

---

Day 25: Tough day today. Made the mistake of not eating breakfast. That helped me become anxious and stressed at work. Didn't really end up working much today because I was so stressed. This led to basically no hours of work which equals basically no pay. Which in turn, equals something to stress about. But, I guess, as long as I'm surviving, does it really matter that I'm not maximizing my hours and thus my income?

Anyways, it seems this not eating breakfast thing is a hard habit for me to break. I did intermittent fasting for quite a while and I still sorta feel inside that the fasting helps me with health, focus, etc. and even makes this struggle easier, cause when the body is hungry it focuses less on sex I guess.

The drawbacks of being anxious and stressed make it not worth it though. I guess I'm just scared to completely give it up after doing it for so long.

I know to most people this stuff is probably random and not helpful. Sorry, I made a commitment to post everyday until 90. So that's what I'll be doing I think. Even when I got nothing really important to say.

Whatever, crappy day, but that's alright. Just gotta remember to just freaking eat breakfast no matter what.

Not to excited to stay up the whole shavuot night. I'm already sleep deprived as it is. Ironically Judaism's obligations deplete one's willpower and can make it harder not to masturbate lol. Anyways, sort of kidding there, but not entirely.

House is noisy and busy with family. I guess I should enjoy it while I can. Heading back to my own place soon.

Coronavirus is still annoying. I worry about my finances and basically always being broke, which makes me feel like a loser somewhat. But, hey, that's life ain't it? You can just make mistakes and try to do better tomorrow. Broadly speaking, I'm eating breakfast more often than I used to, so I guess that means I'm improving somewhat.

One step at a time. Progress not perfection. One day at a time. Nice ideas, I gotta tell ya. Excited to finally get out of the folks house since corona began, but also nervous I'm be lonely. Especially with all the social distancing and everything closed etc. Ya ya, just ramblin now.

I think I'll just try to relax on shavuos and take it easy. Oh crap, forgot that I need to stay up the whole night, not too relaxing actually. Well, I'll try to relax best I can I suppose.

Ok, now I'm really rambling!!!

Wishing y'all a kabalas hatorah bsimcha u'bipnimius!

=====
=====