

Hayom Yom

Posted by BHYY - 13 May 2020 03:20

Hayom Yom Rishon...

I'm not so great at writing all this out but you have to start somewhere. I've been struggling with watching and masturbating for years. B"H over the past couple of years I've made major improvement by speaking with a close Rebbe, chashuve members of GYE, and seeing a therapist. But I still have never made it to 90 days.

Today I start my journey to 90 and beyond.

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by Grant400 - 08 Jan 2021 14:17

BHYY wrote on 08 Jan 2021 07:33:

Unfortunately I had a fall tonight. I came home from Yeshiva for Shabbos and my mother's computer is unlocked and unfiltered. I can't get her to filter it or change the password because whenever someone needs to use it she just calls out the password. That is about the gist of my access. My father's has a password. Sometimes my mother leaves her phone around or tablet. Mainly it's her computer. I try to stay good and stay far away but lately I've been slipping up more and more often and falling because of that access. I hate that my home is a place that gives me stress now, I need to think about it when I'm in Yeshiva and "plan" for when I go home. It's not a comfortable place that I can just pop into because when I do, I fall.

Any ideas how I can stay safe?

This is a question for our beloved birthday boy, Harav Hagaon R' YeshivaGuy. He has this issue all the time, and has remained victorious of late.

Heeeellllloooooo?!?!?!? YeshivaGuy?!?!? We need your assistance!

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by YeshivaGuy - 08 Jan 2021 14:54

BHYY wrote on 08 Jan 2021 07:33:

Unfortunately I had a fall tonight. I came home from Yeshiva for Shabbos and my mother's computer is unlocked and unfiltered. I can't get her to filter it or change the password because whenever someone needs to use it she just calls out the password. That is about the gist of my access. My father's has a password. Sometimes my mother leaves her phone around or tablet. Mainly it's her computer. I try to stay good and stay far away but lately I've been slipping up more and more often and falling because of that access. I hate that my home is a place that gives me stress now, I need to think about it when I'm in Yeshiva and "plan" for when I go home. It's not a comfortable place that I can just pop into because when I do, I fall.

Any ideas how I can stay safe?

Same situation when I'm home too.

It's rough, that's all I can say. Here's what I do, I pasken in my mind that the computer doesn't exist/it's???? or whatever u wanna say.

And when I walk past it I don't even look at it, it's not shayach to me.

Also, using the forum during such a time helps immensely, as well as being in contact with a GYE friend on the phone.

Also a big Yesod is believing shtark that this is not inevitable.

I would always feel that since I'm forced to be in such a matzav that I therefore have no Bechira and will fall.

What I've learnt here thus far, BH, which has caused me much Hatzlocha, is believing that I am the author of my own destiny. That I control my Self and nothing is inevitable.

This has worked for me bh, it's hard and painful, but once you get there it's liberating...

Now, if there comes a time that u need to use the computer for something kosher, that's where this mindset (that it doesn't exist) becomes harder.....

We'll need eitzah from the chevra here on what to do at such a time...

But anyway, Keep shteiging and thriving, and Keep in Touch!

YeshivaGuy

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by sleepy - 08 Jan 2021 15:04

BHYY wrote on 08 Jan 2021 07:33:

Unfortunately I had a fall tonight. I came home from Yeshiva for Shabbos and my mother's computer is unlocked and unfiltered. I can't get her to filter it or change the password because whenever someone needs to use it she just calls out the password. That is about the gist of my access. My father's has a password. Sometimes my mother leaves her phone around or tablet. Mainly it's her computer. I try to stay good and stay far away but lately I've been slipping up more and more often and falling because of that access. I hate that my home is a place that gives me stress now, I need to think about it when I'm in Yeshiva and "plan" for when I go home. It's not a comfortable place that I can just pop into because when I do, I fall.

Any ideas how I can stay safe?

p.s.

dont forget that big wad of dollars that you have set aside reminding you that youre a good bochur who just had a hiccup as you yourself had said!

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by ??? ???? ???? ??? - 08 Jan 2021 15:10

BHYY. You are definitely not alone on this one. I never masturbated or looked at pornography during yeshiva. It was only during bein hazmanim when I went home to my parents house.

Can you speak to your parents about your struggle? I never did. Too ashamed. Looking back, I wish I had. Someone posted a few months back about speaking to his mother and how it was really helpful.

=====

Re: Hayom Yom
Posted by BHYY - 08 Jan 2021 16:59

=====

Re: Hayom Yom
Posted by BHYY - 08 Jan 2021 17:00

??? ???? ???? ??? wrote on 08 Jan 2021 15:10:

Can you speak to your parents about your struggle? I never did. Too ashamed. Looking back, I wish I had. Someone posted a few months back about speaking to his mother and how it was really helpful.

Thank you all for that much needed chizuk. I'm going to keep steaming ahead
After consulting with my Rebbe and therapist we concluded that they wouldn't understand.

=====

Re: Hayom Yom
Posted by BHYY - 10 Jan 2021 05:35

Shabbos was nice and uneventful. Unfortunately Motzei Shabbos was not so.

I was sitting and studying for a final and a little voice in my head said "Hey, would doing such-and-such on your computer bypass the filter?" Yes it did... So that lead to falling twice tonight.

I get it, it was boring and monotonous and my brain wandered for excitement. I still feel gross.

Well, I'm heading back to Yeshiva so that's a nechama. I already messaged the filter company so hopefully they'll patch this problem.

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by dovid613 - 10 Jan 2021 05:52

I unfortunately also fell tonight. We will get back up together iyh!

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by sleepy - 10 Jan 2021 06:42

BHYY wrote on 10 Jan 2021 05:35:

Shabbos was nice and uneventful. Unfortunately Motzei Shabbos was not so.

I was sitting and studying for a final and a little voice in my head said "Hey, would doing such-and-such on your computer bypass the filter?" Yes it did... So that lead to falling twice tonight.

I get it, it was boring and monotonous and my brain wandered for excitement. I still feel gross.

Well, I'm heading back to Yeshiva so that's a nechama. I already messaged the filter company so hopefully they'll patch this problem.

chazak chazak, sometimes i dont know if i should be jealous that you guys are so smart that you know how to bypass filters or be happy that im so dumb that i cant bypass the filter .hmmm

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by BHYY - 10 Jan 2021 07:09

sleepy wrote on 10 Jan 2021 06:42:

BHYY wrote on 10 Jan 2021 05:35:

Shabbos was nice and uneventful. Unfortunately Motzei Shabbos was not so.

I was sitting and studying for a final and a little voice in my head said "Hey, would doing such-and-such on your computer bypass the filter?" Yes it did... So that lead to falling twice tonight.

I get it, it was boring and monotonous and my brain wandered for excitement. I still feel gross.

Well, I'm heading back to Yeshiva so that's a nechama. I already messaged the filter company so hopefully they'll patch this problem.

chazak chazak, sometimes i dont know if i should be jealous that you guys are so smart that you know how to bypass filters or be happy that im so dumb that i cant bypass the filter .hmmm

If you can install a filter and be bound by it then consider it a bracha and a tremendous one at that. My "skills" are a bracha too...I just need to only use them for good things. Seems like a good place for a plug so anyone that needs any filter advice please don't hesitate to drop me a PM; I've, ahem, stress tested most of them and can advise which have my stamp of approval.

=====
=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by BHYY - 10 Jan 2021 16:47

On Friday I joined the YESOD project for the weeks of ??????". I am hoping this will reduce if not eliminate unwanted triggers from secular websites.

When I'm not in Seder I'm either working or studying and in today's day and age that almost guarantees I am sitting in front of a computer. I'm used to browsing various "regular" secular) but have discovered that if it isn't ran by frum yidden chances are there will be triggers. Unfortunately there are also many "Frum" news sources that are also triggering if they post pictures of ladies. Maybe it's time for the Algemeiner...

=====
=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by Allday - 11 Jan 2021 00:23

Halachakly you can do shnaim mikra + any translation that you understand (AKA read the English of the parsha) Mishnah Berurah 285:5

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by BHYY - 12 Jan 2021 04:01

Today I had someone act really nasty to me at work. Frum guy at work, mamish no kavod habrios. Hit all the nerves. I was pretty wound up but instead of going to masturbate I got in my car and went for a long drive (had to be long...gotta warm up the engine to get some heat,) I called a Rebbe of mine and shared my frustrations and he helped me be dan l'kaf zchus the guy and afterward I felt a lot better. Score for today.

Courtesy of cordnoy, I have a new slogan:

cordnoy wrote on 02 Mar 2015 18:20:

Today! Damn it! Today!

I just have to keep shouting it in my head and not in the Yeshiva hallways...

=====

Re: Hayom Yom

Posted by BHYY - 12 Jan 2021 18:09

taking "cooling off" to new levels

Chevra, I have been in the parsha of shidduchim for over a year. I've been on many dates, some shidduchim seemed promising until the girl said no and left me heartbroken and some I had to drag myself through the first date. I keep going hoping that the Ribono Shel Olam sends me my Bashert b'karov mamash.

I have friends in the parsha too. Generally this is very nice because there is nothing better than commiserating with a friend in the parsha about dating woes. But then they get engaged. When I get an email with a mazel tov announcement my heart sinks. I want my heart to soar. I want to be happy for them. I am happy for them, I'm just frustrated that it's them and not me. When I go to a friend's chasuna I usually just feel really awkward in the beginning. It usually takes till around the second dance for me to really get b'simcha and grab the chosson for a dance (btw, I don't drink at chasunas, my simcha is genuine from the heart).

I want to feel happy for my friends. When a friend tells me that he is going serious I want to feel hopeful for him, not edgy and depressed.

I daven for my friends, I daven that they should find their zivugim, and if they're married that they should be bentched with children. Kol hamispallel b'ad chaveiro vhu tzarich l'oso davar... But it doesn't help me feel any happier when they get married.

Is there something I can work on to help me feel happier for others instead of despairing about where I am?

=====
=====