

Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning

Posted by Drunk and Irish - 20 May 2020 14:02

Hello everyone.

I used to exist on GYE as Mr. Emunah, but I lost my account info...

Now I am just Drunk and Irish.

I have seen some success over the past few years, but the past few months have been a slip n' slide and I need to get back on track.

So to quote Vince Lombardi, "Don't change a winning combination" - I will be using GYE, at least for the next 90 days to get back on track.

I might act stupid and drunk sometimes, so I apologize in advance...

=====
=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning

Posted by Gevura Shebyesod - 20 May 2020 14:19

Welcome back, Hagrid!!!

=====

=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning

Posted by yosef10 - 20 May 2020 16:32

Going from Mr. Emu a to Drunk and Irish... sounds like you changed a bit since your last L'Chaim!

If you really want to dig up your old account. You may be able to contact GYE via email... And maybe if you can prove its you, they can help you get it back.... Not sure about this, but if you want to it's worth trying.

Otherwise,... It's great that your back here posting, keep us updated with where your holding and m IF IT AINT BROKE... DONT FIX IT. It took me a while to realize that I should probably do what worked for me in my longer streaks (even though they were difficult) cause they well, worked... Du. So I'm on the same page as you.

If if you want, you can still link us to your old forums so we can catch ourselves up on your journey... Keep up the good work... And stay sober:joy:

=====

=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning

Posted by Singularity - 21 May 2020 06:45 account

"Forgot Password" anyone?

=====

=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning
Posted by starting - 21 May 2020 06:59

Hey if you are drunk do you see every day as double and count 90 in 45

=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning
Posted by Drunk and Irish - 26 May 2020 15:44

=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning
Posted by yosef10 - 26 May 2020 16:30

Not sure of the relevance... But as long as your doing it under hadracha and with good Everyone celebrates differently.

=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning
Posted by Drunk and Irish - 26 May 2020 16:53

just spent the morning reading up on serial killers (in honor of shavuot) and serial killers aren't It's because I feel a bit guilty when you are supposed to be getting holy,

=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning
Posted by battle-of-the-gen - 27 May 2020 02:28

is it bec that dov on jeffrey dahrmer just came out? some creeeeepy stuff

=====
=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning
Posted by stillgoing - 31 May 2020 13:45

Drunk and Irish wrote on 26 May 2020 15:44:

just spent the morning reading up on serial killers (in honor of shavuos)

Yea, serial killers can be a real pain. It's good to read up to know what to do.

For me they usually take the form of 1, Slightly sour milk.

2, Slightly sour kids eating slightly sour cereal next to me

3, kosher for Passover cereal that promises to taste real and is actually worse then numbers 1
And 2 combined (refer to above numbers 1,2, ad hoc)

4, Good cereal but I'm thinking about how much I paid for the Pesach cereal and that the box was mostly empty when I opened it!

These are all crazy Cereal Killers for me, so I can relate!

=====

Re: Drunk, Irish, Counting, and Learning
Posted by wilnevergiveup - 30 May 2021 07:27

Drunk and Irish wrote on 20 May 2020 14:02:

Hello everyone.

I used to exist on GYE as Mr. Emunah, but I lost my account info...

Now I am just Drunk and Irish.

I have seen some success over the past few years, but the past few months have been a slip n' slide and I need to get back on track.

So to quote Vince Lombardi, "Don't change a winning combination" - I will be using GYE, at least for the next 90 days to get back on track.

I might act stupid and drunk sometimes, so I apologize in advance...

Hit and run?

=====
=====