Hey guys I've been clean from masterbation for 37 days and over the past couple of weeks after I urinate I get a tingle and a thick yellow substance comes out. Was wondering if anyone else had these symptoms? Its also cause discomfort and gets me very aroused. Anyone have some good tips? Does this stop eventually?

Yes, been there. Sometimes that's the way the body gets rid of old sperm. Here's how you can deal with it. Drink a boat ton of water. Stay crazy hydrated. Pee clear. This will clear it out quick and in a diluted way lol, and then you move on in life. KUTGW!

Well done on 37 days...it's a long period of time to be clean.

I guess it is what ihavestrength wrote.

But just in case, have you had sex with anyone?

If so, and this yellow liquid persists, you could get tested for a sexually transmitted disease at a clinic.
