

On the way

Posted by eom308 - 11 Jan 2021 18:23

It's been just over a week now. For anyone on here struggling, in whichever areas they may be struggling, I think it's vital to have a support system. The forum and resources on here are great, specifically the partner program. Having a partner(s) and mentor(s) to help keep you moving forward and on the right track is a massive tool.

With Hashem's help I hope to continue and I pray that all of us find the yishuv hadaas and strength we need to keep pushing forward.

Thank you all for the supportive community which has been created here. It's a kiddush Hashem beyond what we can imagine.

=====

Re: On the way

Posted by anothershot - 11 Jan 2021 19:15

Welcome! It's great to have you with us!

=====

Re: On the way

Posted by Captain - 12 Jan 2021 14:24

Welcome! It's so great to "meet" you! Please tell us more about yourself.

Also please check out these great free resources:

Great book (ebook) for breaking free: The Battle of the Generation <https://guardyoureyes.com/ebooks/item/the-battle-of-the-generation>.

Rabbi Shafier's incredible lectures on breaking free: The Fight. Download here: <https://theshmuz.com/series/the-fight/>

Also, you can sign up for the daily GYE Boost emails/ whatsapps at www.gyeboost.org.

=====

Re: On the way

Posted by eom308 - 19 Jan 2021 17:10

Just a Jew trying to be better. Struggled since I was 13. When I went to Israel when I was 17 is when I began to work on overcoming this struggle and getting better.

I'm now married BH with 3 beautiful children. Just trying to be the best husband I can be.

Thank God my wife is extremely understanding and supportive and has been a massive help throughout my journey. Excited to be a part of such a community of ovdei Hashem.

=====

Re: On the way

Posted by willdoit - 19 Jan 2021 18:53

Hello,

Welcome aboard, you sound like a person who takes life serious and yearns to be the best possible. so it's just the right place for people like you.

?We all here to help each other.

?Please start sharing your struggles, etc. you won't regret.

=====

=====

Re: On the way

Posted by Hashem Help Me - 20 Jan 2021 03:44

Keep it up tzaddik. You are blessed that your wife is part of your journey. You can never thank her enough. Make sure she keeps hearing your appreciation.

=====

=====

Re: On the way

Posted by starting - 21 Jan 2021 06:11

Welcome

I think you've hit the nail on the head when you said 'a community of ovdei Hashem'

It's a bunch of guys who have done some pretty big aveiros way too many times. That's why we're here.

So it's important to recognise that no matter what you've done, when you are trying your best to be good, you are a real oived Hashem, even if you are sometimes nichshol in the worst. Don't let your past trap you down and realise that now I'm an oived.

This is the new me and I will stick to being the new me.

Hatzlocho

=====

=====

Re: On the way

Posted by eom308 - 25 Jan 2021 14:46

100%. I thank Hashem every day for my wife and I constantly thank her for her incredible sensitivity. Truly not something to be taken lightly. I'm amazed and it's kept me going bH

=====

=====

Re: On the way

Posted by eom308 - 25 Jan 2021 14:50

Exactly. There's a story told about a Jew who asked a Chassid, "How much brazenness do you Chassidim have? A true Chassid is someone who goes above and beyond the letter of the law. Yet, you refer to even simple Jews as 'Chassidim.'" The Chassid responded, "You know there's a train that travels from Kiev to Berditchov. Everyone calls it the, "Berditchov Train." However, there are many stops on the way, so why do they call it that? Because regardless of the stops along the way, Berditchov is the final destination."

The takeaway is extremely vital. Yes, we may stumble along the way, we may have "stops," or stumbling blocks, but our ultimate goal is to be those people that we know we can be, ovdei Hashem. We are all ovdei Hashem. May the Master of the world give us strength.

=====

=====