

Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by struggle613 - 08 Mar 2021 19:25

Hi Everyone.

I just had a fall and I wanted to start this thread now before I chicken out again because I think it will help me.

A little background of my story. I have been struggling since I was a teenager and have had my ups and downs staying clean. At one point I was well over a year clean doing really well but slowly I have sunk back down. Most notably around a year ago I started to have more falls more often.

I have recently been putting in more effort to stay clean and I could no longer sit back and just try half heartedly anymore (Not that it was ok that I got in to that routine after being clean for so long)

For the rest of today I will have to prevent myself from falling into the trap of saying since I fell today I can take the rest of the day off and start again tomorrow.

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by struggle613 - 16 Mar 2021 14:13

Yesterday was day 7. Its a nice number to get to a full week clean. But I can't let that distract from the goal of today.

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by Striving Avreich - 16 Mar 2021 14:25

ODAAT.

How have you found the past week?

What worked and what hasn't?

=====

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by struggle613 - 17 Mar 2021 16:32

Plenty has worked and plenty hasn't

Currently I am doing the Taphisc method. But I think what has been the most important aspect is my determination and focus. To remind myself what I am working on so I don't get relaxed. Most of my falls after being clean for a few days have come because of this.

B'H 8 days now and I am feeling good. I was a little angry about something yesterday which in the past has led me to lust for things to relax but B'H I didn't let those thoughts stick around for more than a second.

=====

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by struggle613 - 18 Mar 2021 12:57

I am now at 9 days clean. Having a steak does feel nice. However my brain has been having strong desires for me to go poking around to try and see what I can find. Probably because it is getting starved for some simulation. I just have to keep reminding myself to stay on guard and not let myself go poking around at all.

=====

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by Grant400 - 18 Mar 2021 13:48

struggle613 wrote on 18 Mar 2021 12:57:

I am now at 9 days clean. Having a steak does feel nice. However my brain has been having strong desires for me to go poking around to try and see what I can find. Probably because it is getting starved for some simulation. I just have to keep reminding myself to stay on guard and not let myself go poking around at all.

EDIT: I just have to keep reminding myself why I want to stay clean and be on guard, and realize that poking around will only inhibit my success.

We all try to "cheat". We call it a "slip" a "close call" or any other name that won't make us restart our count, and still feel good about ourselves. The truth is who are we fooling? Our goal is to be clean - but not according to a specific set of rules we can bend. It's not a traffic ticket we are trying to avoid. It's our life we want to live differently.

We must stop with the poking, peeking, quick looks or clicks. None of the "not real porn" "no masturbation" etc. No more "just checking something else". It's not a competition. It's us living our lives the way we know we should, and the way we WANT too. We must realize that at this point it's indeed us who don't want to see anything that we shouldn't, even if we can still classify it with cozy feeling terms, and keep clicking "still clean".

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by Benoni - 18 Mar 2021 19:49

Grant400 wrote on 18 Mar 2021 13:48:

struggle613 wrote on 18 Mar 2021 12:57:

I am now at 9 days clean. Having a steak does feel nice. However my brain has been having strong desires for me to go poking around to try and see what I can find. Probably because it is getting starved for some simulation. I just have to keep reminding myself to stay on guard and not let myself go poking around at all.

EDIT: I just have to keep reminding myself why I want to stay clean and be on guard, and realize that poking around will only inhibit my success.

We all try to "cheat". We call it a "slip" a "close call" or any other name that won't make us restart our count, and still feel good about ourselves. The truth is who are we fooling? Our goal is to be clean - but not according to a specific set of rules we can bend. It's not a traffic ticket we are trying to avoid. It's our life we want to live ~~differently~~.

We must stop with the poking, peeking, quick looks or clicks. None of the "not real porn" "no masturbation" etc. No more "just checking something else". It's not a competition. It's us living our lives the way we know we should, and the way we WANT too. We must realize that at this point it's indeed us who don't want to see anything that we shouldn't, even if we can still classify it with cozy feeling terms, and keep clicking "still clean".

This has gotta be one of the most emesdik posts on this site! Reb Grant makes a profound point by saying it's not a competition. We all joined here on our own accord; it wasn't to impress anyone, it wasn't to beat anyone in a staying clean competition. For the majority of us, our families, wives, and friends don't even know that we're on here. For the majority of us, we started this battle with the only intentions of enhancing our own quality of life, purity, and yiras shamayim. Unfortunately however, some of us (myself included) have lost sight of our initial intentions. We pretend we're clean even though we just looked up some lingerie catalogue- it's not porn, but it's not not porn. Honestly, who are we trying to impress by saying we're still clean? If it's not our wives and our families that we're trying to impress, is it a bunch of strangers on an internet forum? That's like the most goyishe thing ever to do.

C'mon Rabbosai, how much more goyishe are we going to let ourselves get before we realize what really matters here? Are we taking on this unprecedented battle to lord over some number on a screen? (It's mamesh like a multi-player video game with all the levels) Are we taking on this unprecedented battle to lord over some internet strangers how long we can go without looking at shmutz? NO! We're doing it for ourselves and HK"BH. That's it! Forget what anyone else thinks.

.?? ??? ??? ?? ?? ??

The only reason why there's a forum of other people is so that we can be mechazeik them and they can give chizuk to us- it's mamesh not a competition! When you make it a competition, the only one that loses is you!

=====
=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by strugle613 - 19 Mar 2021 13:52

Grant400 wrote on 18 Mar 2021 13:48:

struggle613 wrote on 18 Mar 2021 12:57:

I am now at 9 days clean. Having a steak does feel nice. However my brain has been having strong desires for me to go poking around to try and see what I can find. Probably because it is getting starved for some simulation. I just have to keep reminding myself to stay on guard and not let myself go poking around at all.

EDIT: I just have to keep reminding myself why I want to stay clean and be on guard, and realize that poking around will only inhibit my success.

We all try to "cheat". We call it a "slip" a "close call" or any other name that won't make us restart our count, and still feel good about ourselves. The truth is who are we fooling? Our goal is to be clean - but not according to a specific set of rules we can bend. It's not a traffic ticket we are trying to avoid. It's our life we want to live differently.

We must stop with the poking, peeking, quick looks or clicks. None of the "not real porn" "no masturbation" etc. No more "just checking something else". It's not a competition. It's us living our lives the way we know we should, and the way we WANT too. We must realize that at this point it's indeed us who don't want to see anything that we shouldn't, even if we can still classify it with cozy feeling terms, and keep clicking "still clean".

Thank you Grant. This is very true. It is a reminder of what I am really working for, what I really want to accomplish and how any pokes and prods is against my goal and endgame.

On that note it is also nice to know somebody is actually reading my ramblings.

Day 10 now. I have been inspired for today to make sure that I don't think in terms of being clean for 90 days but just to be clean because that is what I want.

=====
=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by struggle613 - 22 Mar 2021 12:51

I didn't get a chance to give any updates yesterday. I was sick in bed all day. This usually represents its own challenge. With so much free time for my mind to wander it is hard to keep any bad thoughts out of my mind. I kept reminding myself of what Reb Grant said that I don't want these thoughts because that is just not who I want to be anymore and I was B'H able to keep the lustfull thoughts out of my mind. Feeling better today so hoping to have a nicer day than yesterday.

=====

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by Striving Avreich - 22 Mar 2021 12:52

=====

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by struggle613 - 23 Mar 2021 13:33

Yesterday was day 14. Feeling good about myself. I hope I can continue this today. Things are starting to get busy for pesach so I guess that is good and will help me.

=====

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by HappyYid - 23 Mar 2021 13:52

You should feel very good about yourself!

Keep on going, you could do it!

Yeah getting busy is usually a big helper for this...for me at least.

=====

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by struggle613 - 24 Mar 2021 13:36

I am up to 15 days now. I went to the store yesterday to pick up food and I made sure to keep myself focused to not look at anyone through the eyes of lust. Later on during the night I was thinking about it. I feel like it is not normal to have to put in so much effort to make sure that you don't look at every woman you pass with lustful intent. Is it just because I am messed up from over the years or is this just a real struggle every person deals with? Does this ever get easier? Will I ever be able to just walk outside normally and pass people by and not have to say look somewhere else but just walk by without processing that I am walking by somebody?

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by Strong as iron - 24 Mar 2021 14:45

i feel the same way i just have so much pressure i cant walk on the street it takes so much energy from me.....

=====

Re: Insert Catchy Title Here!

Posted by Sapy - 24 Mar 2021 15:30

I find that it does get easier, once you learn to not see women as objects, but as people like yourself. Then you dont realize every time you see a woman.

It takes work, but it does get easier.

Just my experience.

=====