Keep it up!

It's great that you have the strength to text someone during a hard time!

Like you wrote you don't know how long you'll make it, but the main thing is, one day at a time.
Very good attitude.

Wishing you much hatzlacha!

You're a real fighter there's no question about that. The way you're speaking shows you don't want this in your life.

what has worked for me is really writing down the reasons and scenarios that cause me to fall and try to eliminate them. Wars require detailed strategy.
