I saw that you posted in the past that you started the F2F program. Did you go through the whole program? Do you regularly read The Battle of the Generation? Do you know the situations, thoughts and emotions that precede falls? Do you have a written list of appropriate responses from the toolbox for each cue?

Keep on posting and sharing and make friends. You may want to post more about your struggles or successes.

I scrolled back to the beginning of this thread. You don't have ten clean days. You have months and months of clean days. You're crushing it.

So right now you're in rough spot. Don't give up. I heard once the alei shur says a tzadik is someone who fights his yetzer hara. You've clearly been fighting the good fight, don't let one fall get you down.

Maybe you need to go back and look at what was working for you and see if you've eased up on any of that?

Hi

Day 1 of a million

Coming back to the forum for accountability

Want to get back on track completely not a total roller coaster did reallyreally well in ey

Had a rough bain hazmanim

And I'm joining the fight again

Before starting shidduchim in a few months

Hanging in there the past few days

Knowing I'm gonna post here definitely helped me twice

Although I blocked the worst stuff thru the router so at least I'm safe from that but it's still rough

Exercise seems to really help

But lack of much to do at down time is getting rough

I should really listen to my own advice and start calling hhm again

That's it for tonight's rambling

Got in touch for real with hhm

He's a real person can't believe I did that I almost didn't get the guts to do it upto 9 straight clean days

Miracles do happen
