

Here I go... good feeling about this time

Here we go ... day one clean (so far today). I have got into a bad habit in recent weeks of looking at porn Sunday morning and then each day of the week, with the yetzer whispering in my ear each day 'this week is a write-off anyway' and something along the lines of 'of course, I could just open porn any time ... like this' and before I know it, my life is filled with shame and I can hardly smile at my wife without thinking of the company I have been keeping. Enough. Time to start the 90 day journey with fresh determination.
