

Work in progress

Posted by Vehkam - 02 Jan 2022 18:43

Trying to post here on a somewhat regular basis so that I stay on course. I have to rewire my thinking patterns of over thirty years! I set the counter to the last date that I fell in masturbation. I have been able to stay away from other things for longer. I thank hashem for his kindness in helping me to this point.

this shabbos I was in Florida. Obviously there are a lot more nisyonos. I definitely was more successful than other times in not following my eyes and gazing with the help of GYE. (Not to say that I was successful in every instance- at some point my feet just took me in the wrong direction even though my mind was saying- STOP!)

One thing that helped me alot was a shiur I heard recently that describes the power of a tefila that one has immediately after he withstands a nisayon. When I feel a possible weakness to a temptation, I quickly resolve to turn away and then I immediately daven for something that is very important to me. Each small victory is another tefila. I don't want these nisyonos, but if they are coming anyway at least I have the opportunity to use them for something very meaningful.

MAZAL TOV!

Your hatzlacha brought about so much purity in this world! Your impact is immeasurable (with regard to the struggle and beyond).

I can't imagine my life without your insight and guidance!

Hatzlacha!

A gentle touch,

soft, understanding eyes and voice,

One who knows.

A gentle touch,

Mighty steel beneath the velvet,

standing before the One who knows.

Vehkam.

Humble, yet unyielding,

Your quiet need and passion to ignite Kedusha nursed flickering, ashen embers

back

Into a roaring blaze.

A conflagration

Heart on fire

Rising ever higher

Vehkam.

Your soft compassion reflects

the awesome Rachamim

Of He

who will ever give second chances.

You show us:

We can yet find that endless ocean of

still deep pure waters

inner wells of soul,

everlasting endless sparks of greatness

that never really left...

Vehkam.

Wow, you had me crying there.....

Crying of the joy for the one who looks forward and doesn't let the failures of the past break him,

One who who begins his life of purity when others have long been coasting beyond the days of vim,

Respect and adoration for the one who has rocketed past those coasting peers high in the realms of kedusha,

Living the dream life and sharing it with others, having gotten back up to tahara - Vehkam...

I was just reading thru your thread based on advice from a mentor. I'm a bit more than a week in on my journey. But this posts resonate with me so much. Every place, phone number, person, picture, conversations... are deeply etched in my mind.

I wish i could forget... And you give me so much chizuk that you didnt get dejected by it and now your in a whole new life!

Thanks for all the chizuk!

I think a thread like this belongs in the 'pinned' section, always visible for all that come to this part of the forum, and not get buried under all the other threads, as wonderful as they may be. All in agreement say aye. Maybe we can get this message to the moderators somehow

He's on Shem's Hall of Fame thread.

I'll post the link when I am able, but it's in his signature thank you hashem for the opportunity to say no!

bezras hashem i have become accustomed to be careful where i look. i generally keep my eyes down when i am in the city and especially in the winter bli ayin hara it does not seem to be a struggle most of the time.

today when i came out of Penn Station i was walking on 7th avenue. my eyes were down towards the sidewalk. right in front of me on the ground there were cards advertising a local club. As soon as i saw the name on the card - and before the picture on it came into focus, i quickly closed my eyes. I definitely don't want to see that again but it was nice to have the opportunity to say no.

even though i haven't written on my thread, i am still very much here and still trying to grow.

Listening to Michael Safdie regularly on emuna and bitachon is also helping me.

i mentioned to someone recently, that I had some serious personal (not kedusha) challenges in the past few years. I am confident that hashem waited until i was clean to bring those challenges to me so that i could grow from them. had they come when i was still steeped in devarim assurim, i would have escaped into that world and the challenges would have taken me straight down. Now, the same challenges bring me closer to hashem. I am sure there are many other chevra here that can echo this thought.

best regards,

vehkam

Amen ViAmen. And the spiritual Kochos that have been developed through the fight with one form of challenge can then be utilized in another.

This lesson, carried in your heart and inscribed in your essence, is part of why that hug was so meaningful to me....

Keep Shteiging and growing.
