b"h today is my 17 day

was good with no urges but i have to be ready for the hard days

when its good you can even imagine falling and when its bad you cant even imagine being good we have to work on remembering in good times that there are difficult days and we have to be ready and in bad times we have to remember there is also good days to come

I love how you wrote about remembering the good days during the bad, and the bad days during the good. Definitely do try to use these good days to build yourself up for the harder days. I've found many good solid tools in the battle of the generation book that I constantly try to chazzer over and over during the good days. Learning and practicing tools during the good days is the biggest and strongest thing that has really helped me overcome the nisyonos of the bad days.

Hatzlacha!

Amazing!!

Like Iwannalivereal says take that emotional high of overcoming the YH and use it to propel you further!!

Hatzlocha!!
