

Shlomo's Shlep to 90

Posted by teenagehelp - 04 Jan 2010 22:30

I guess i'll give a little background about me. I'm in high school (i'm 17) but i go to a secular, private school and i am more observant than the rest of my family. I've been making the transition over the past 5 or so years to living a more observant lifestyle, and after finding out that my family used to be chasidic, I find a deep connection with Chassidus, mainly through Chabad.
Hey everyone.

However, like many other people on this site, I have slip-ups when it comes to shmiras aynayim. boruch hashem, its not to a point where its unmanageable, but the fact that these slip ups occur is enough cause for worry at least in my own life. I like to think its something normal for a teenager to do, but i still know its something that needs to stop.

i've tried taking measures but i find that the time i'm most inspired to do so is only after the fact or a slip up has occured. i've installed filters and i'm reading through (and trying to live out) the packets from GuardYourEyes, all of which are helpful.

but at the same time, the results aren't 100% and i would love to say that i see the end of the any tips?

Touche!! :D

It's weird...somehow, this site doesn't bring out my sense of humor...not sure why. I can do it in person, via email/chat, phone, even on college discussion boards...but not much here. Interesting. Maybe GYE filters all humor except for puns?

i hate to start a week off by saying this, but i fell. this stems simply from not having anything set up for me to do. despite beginning a week like this in such a vile manner, i know that i also have the opportunity to jump over this bump and turn it into something productive, which is exactly what i plan to do.

as of now i plan to work on:

- 1) staying b'simcha all of the time (special thanks to aaron)
- 2) using spare time to study torah
- 3) post on GUE more and try to give others chizuk

well, i wish everyone a shavuah tov and i can only hope and work so that i can wish the same to all next week with a more positive tone.
