

Chazak Amenu's climb

Posted by Chazak Amenu - 28 Feb 2010 02:09

I am an orthodox 14(turn 15 march 30) years old who home schools, i have come to the conclusion myself that homeschooling has nothing to do with my addiction because I don't have time to view porn during school hours do to homework. I first saw porn when I was nearing the end of 6th grade. I saw it accidentally while doing a book report for class. The character in the book was also the name of the porn star and pictures of her popped up. The first time i saw it I immediately closed down but i was curious and had just hit puberty so i opened it up again and looked. I did not know what s-x was at the time and only looked at nude pictures for a while but then I began looking for videos and could not find any for a while. I contented myself with opening multiple tabs at time viewing hundreds of non clothed females. One day I downloaded a virus thereby forcing my dad to buy a new computer. While at the store he bought me a laptop which until recently I never used because I did not want to betray my parents trust further. I found out the filters password and used it. I recently changed the password so I don't know it but no one knows it so hopefully that does not become a problem. There are still two other computers without filters. No one knows about my addiction not even my twin brother. I don't feel clean and I feel like I need to go to the Mikvah but I don't know how to go by asking without people becoming suspicious. I feel really bad because I have a slight break before learning Gemmara and a few times I have watched porn right before learning. I hope I can stop the addiction early in my life and continue to become a good Jew!

Thank Hashem i do get along with my parents. my mom keeps saying i can tell her anything and last night i hear news that shook our whole family and my mom made sure to tell my brother and sister that we can tell her or my father anything. also it has been recommended to me because i feel it would be easier to talk to my mother that i should do that first and maybe even get advice on how to tell my dad along with the support of my mom. also like has been mentioned to me is to not show them my user name and story. But i do want to show them GYE i would tell them not to go to the wall of honor section. these are just a few of my many thoughts. i am going to keep thinking about it and soon i am going to write the general idea of what i am going to say.

Ok, here is my thinking now, I feel like i want to tell my mom tonight...but i already feel myself pulling out, and becoming afraid, I really want to do it! I don't see any point in waiting much longer i don't want it to drag out. I am already nervous at the prospect.

STAY STRONG whatever the outcome is. No matter how your mom(/dad) respond it will be for the best of you. Hashem is only going to do what is best for you and is not here to come and destroy you. Remember to say some tehillim before you go to your parents! May you be successful in what you do!

ok, here is a rough draft of what i am going to say tonight IF i do go ahead and tell my mom.

I am going to make sure that we are left alone and have our privacy.

"Mom you said i could tell you anything. This is very hard and difficult for me to do but because of recent events i feel i should tell you what is going on with me. You know how i have been depressed and moody recently? Well even though i have told you it is nothing that was not the truth. You know that i fell behind a lot in math this year and that i don't practice drumming accept a few days before my lesson even though i like to drum and how I don't read as much of the History books as I myself would like. The reason is because I have chronic procrastination. When i fall behind I get very anxious and depressed. You also know i am lonely because I don't have friends. This also gets me down. What I am about to say is very hard to say and is probably even harder to hear...but I am know that you love me no matter what and that i can tell you anything. I deal with my procrastination and my pressure, stress and all of my other stuff by trying and find comfort in this through pornograph* and "spilling seed". AND I HATE MYSELF for it! I hope you are not mad with me, I am now part of a website for religious and non religious Jews alike who have P and M addictions I want to show it to you with out showing you what i write." and that is the basic idea if 7up is willing i would like my mom to talk to you. please suggestions!!

I sent some comments by PM, but generally the chevra might want to comment on whether I was even vaguely on track or not on a couple of points. Namely:

1. Do not make the discussion focus on GYE.org. You don't need her to focus on the site (is it kosher? is it fulla pedophiles ch'v? what are YOUR posts? etc). This discussion is all about YOU. So certainly mention that you've found a kosher website resource that's helping, but I wouldn't push the details.

2. Remember that once she surfs onto this site as a guest, she will immediately know which posts are yours, and learn more about you than you had guessed. I would not make the site a focus of this upcoming conversation.

3. Sorry, but I agree with Dov's assessment that no one from GYE is gonna be a helpful aide in your process. Not 7up, not Dov, not nobody. You're on your own, man. This one is all about you. Stand up and take it like a man, because you ARE one. A gibbur! You'll be fine.

AND I HATE MYSELF for it!In order to deal with this I joined a website for religious and non religious Jews alike who have the same problem in varying degrees of difficulty who are all trying to stop and serve Hashem better I want to show you the website but I am not going to show you the forum where everyone posts because i want some of what i am going through to remain private. " suggestions are welcome!

Its been recommended to me that i write out a few of the reasons i am doing this.

2. My parents keep reminding me that i could tell them anything and i really feel that this is something they should know about.
3. I plan on telling my dad after my mom, with my moms help and i want him to put filters on the computers that don't have I don't see a way to do this with out telling him.
4. when i do get behind on my work i want them to be more understanding of what is going on there and that i really want to do the stuff well!
- 5.I want my parents to be able to trust me and know that i trust them and am willing to tell them things even if it is hard.
6. I want everything out on the table because i think it will relieve a lot of stress and i will feel like i am not lying and hiding things at every turn.

there are a few other reasons but they are difficult to explain...they are more emotional things that are hard to describe.

CA, Good luck!

To be honest, I think that they will be relieved and that you will certainly be relieved! I'm sure that they are worried for you. They may be thinking that you are depressed for no reason, gay, or using drugs or alcohol and will be relieved to know what the deal is and that you are working on yourself. Your parents sound like very good people and non judgmental.

It's really weird but I don't know you but I really feel for you and sincerely hope that it works out for the best. I would also like you to know that I had similar problems when I was a teen (procrastination) and I got over it!

Keep us posted, will think of you during mincha

This list is great CA.

As a parent, nothing would mean more to me than knowing my teenage child wants an open relationship with communication.

I would even share those reasons with your Mom.

Reasons 7 and on are for you to help you understand yourself better.
