Hello everyone,

just some good news, I'm now holding day 12!! for the first time, I hope this continues.

anyone who can remember when they were at this stage, I would really appreciate some tips etc.

Keep it up!

Keep telling yourself how good you feel to be free.

Keep thanking Hashem for every day.

Daven for continued success.

We're proud of you.

You're doing great.

You're working on yourself!

awesome! wow that's two weeks and counting. if only i were there too...one day soon ;D

i remember what i was like around then, first time around. i was doing pretty good, still excited from the initial start and starting to feel untouchable. a week later, still feeling free and easy and a little too big-headed and pig-headed for my own good, i self-paskened i was allowed to watch a certain movie b/c i was beyond all that already and i'd be fine. whoops. i held on but barely- from then on it was kind of a downward slide leading to my fall on day 50.

moral of the story: shouldn't have let my guard down.

thanx! everyone!

anyway im delighted to announce that am now holding DAY 20!!!!!!

and yes i cant belive it!

day 15 at one point was really really tough but somehow i managed!

also i feel like ive developed almost like a 'second nature' to hold back no matter what! i wonder if anyone knows what i mean.

teddy thanx for the reassurance!

still 21 for me!

i am keeping in mind that things could turn around, but im on a 'high'.

highs are good so long as you're keeping watch.

see, going down a huge hill on a bicycle is great b/c you can coast on that when you get to a rough patch. so you whiz down it. but you still got to keep an eye out and a hand on the brake in case a car comes out of nowhere.
