

Close to Level 3

Posted by yankeld - 16 Jul 2009 17:53

---

First time in a long time. Probably since right after my Shana Rishona began is the last time I was holding here.

I'm definately proud of myself for getting this far with one slip to count to boot....but one catch.

My wife just became a Niddah right when I thought I "needed" "it" the most.

=====

Re: Close to Level 3

Posted by bardichev - 16 Jul 2009 18:30

---

HELLO ONE MINUET AT A TIME IS NUCLEAR WARFARE AGAINST HIM

PUSH HIM OFF

PLAY SICK

Chizuk is welcome.,,,, :

PLAY DEAD

CALL A CHESSED ORGANAZATION TELL THEM YOU HAVE A FEW FREE HOURS

GO VISIT A RELATIVE

CLEAN THE ATTIC

THE BASEMENT

RIDE A BIKE

MAKE A GESHMAKKKE BAR B Q

COME DRINK WOODFORD WITH ME!!

BOOM THAT NAILS IT

bardichev

PS ALL GOOD THINGS COME TO THOSE WHO WAIT!!

=====

Re: Close to Level 3

Posted by battleworn - 16 Jul 2009 19:52

---

My wife just became a Niddah right when I thought I "needed" "it" the most.

You got it! You thought you needed it, but only Hashem knows what you need. And He knew that now is the perfect time for this nissayon! The main thing to remember is to take it easy. If the y"h tries to play it up, ignore him. Follow bardichev's advice!

=====

====

Re: Close to Level 3

Posted by the.guard - 19 Jul 2009 11:27

---

Hashem often plays these "tricks" with us. This is all part of the training... Did you think joining Hashem's front-line soldiers would be "vacation time"? You're in the SEALs boot camp my friend. And just when you think you need it most, Hashem asks you to do another round of 100 push ups!! That's what will make you into a MAN. Welcome to the club.

Remember, Chazal say "the less you feed it, the less you need it"...

=====

====