LOOKING FOR WEB DEVELOPER
Posted by the.guard - 13 Jul 2009 11:35

_____

Hi everyone. We are looking to exand the capabilities of our new website guardyoureyes.org. We want to include new features like RSS feeds, Chat rooms, user-profiles and an automated Wall of Honor... I am looking for someone who knows PHP programming and has some experience with WORDPRESS and web development that may be able to volunteer some programming for us... anyone?

Bardichev,

You are so right :-[

Lets add that to the list of "birthday" brachos - Hashem should send all the corrrect shlichim in order to help heilige Guard fill his dreams for both himself, as well as for GYE! :D

I may have a sponsor this week for some web development. Would any of these skilled guys be willing to work for about 40 NIS an hour? I need guys who are talented and can get a lot done, quickly. But the scope of the work is not huge... It's obviously not a full time job, just a few weeks probably now, and maybe more in the future... Let me know. If yes, have them contact me at eyes.guard@gmail.com. Thanks for your help.
